Deadly Shooting Reported on Northern Arizona University's Flagstaff Campus

(ABC News) A deadly shooting occurred on Northern Arizona University's Flagstaff campus early this morning, and the suspected shooter is in custody, according to a university spokesperson. One person died and three others were wounded in the shooting, the spokesperson said. It's unclear what sparked the shooting, which took place near Mountain View Hall, a dormitory that houses most of the campus' students involved in Greek organizations. Residents in Mountain View Hall were asked to stay indoors, according to an emergency alert sent by the university.

Netanyahu: No magic solution to 'wave of terror'

(Al Jazeera) Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has said there is no quick fix for a spate of Palestinian "lone-wolf" attacks that the country has faced in recent days. Four people, including an Israeli soldier, were stabbed and wounded near a military headquarters in Tel Aviv on Thursday as a rash of such Palestinian attacks spread to Israel's commercial capital. The assailant was shot and killed by another soldier as he fled, a police spokeswoman said. "We are in the midst of a wave of terror ... There is no magic solution and the actions [we are taking] will not yield instant results, but with methodical determination we will prove that terror does not pay and we will defeat it," Netanyahu said in a prime time news conference, with top security officials by his side. Four Israelis have been killed in stabbings in Jerusalem and a drive-by shooting in the occupied West Bank in the past week. Three Palestinians have been shot dead and hundreds injured in clashes with security services, triggering fears of escalation.

Fleet Week, San Francisco, San Francisco County

- Fleet Week Activities run through October 12th. Activities include the Blue Angels performing, parade of ships on the Bay and ship tours.

Cal OES Activation Status

- The Cal OES State Operations Center (SOC) transitioned to Joint Field Office (JFO) operations with FEMA to support recovery operations.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

Weather of Concern

- Slight cooling is expected Saturday with more cooling Sunday. Hot conditions are due to high pressure anchored over the southwestern U.S. The valleys and desert areas will see temperatures climb into the 100s, with the inland coastal areas reaching 90+ degrees. Five to ten degrees of cooling is expected on Sunday. The extended period of hot and dry conditions will also bring elevated fire danger.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

A weak trough will brush far northwest California with the possibility for a few showers or drizzle Friday night and Saturday. A warming and drying trend can be expected Sunday through much of the work week.

Medford Weather:

The upper ridge that has been over the Medford forecast area for much of the week will finally move east today and allow a weak front to move onshore.

Reno Weather:

Strong high pressure over northeast California and western Nevada will bring well above average to near record temperatures today and Saturday. Winds will be increasing Saturday as the ridge briefly flattens with low pressure moving through the Pacific Northwest.

San Francisco Weather:

Dry weather conditions along with above normal temperatures will persist through this weekend as high pressure resides over the state.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

High pressure over the southwest U.S can be expected to bring dry conditions and above normal temperatures through the middle of next week.

Hanford Weather:

An upper level ridge of high pressure will continue to build over central California during the next few days. This ridge will bring dry weather with a day to day warming trend through Saturday.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Upper level high pressure and offshore flow will make for a hot and dry day today with some record high temperatures expected. There will be a cooling trend over the weekend as flow turns onshore but it will still be rather hot especially away from the coast. Temperatures will still be above normal early next week then an upper low will bring cooler weather and a slight chance of showers by midweek.

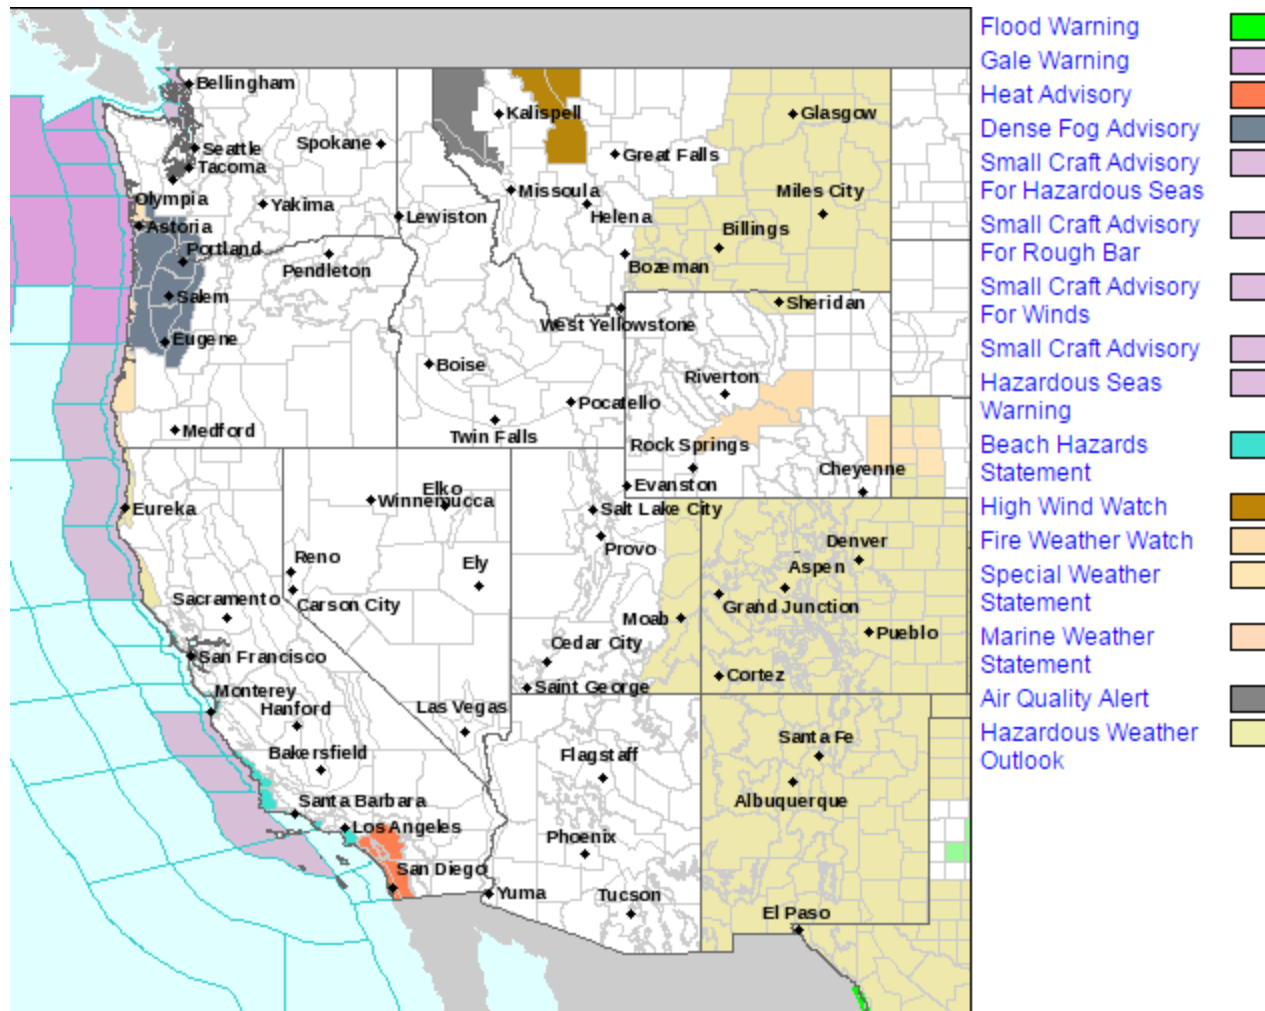

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

High pressure building over the west and offshore flow will bring hot and dry weather today and Saturday.

Southeast California Weather:

A low pressure system across northern Mexico will continue drifting westward leaving the southwestern states under a tranquil weather regime the next several days. Above normal temperatures will persist through at least the middle of next week.
